

David Backus <david.backus@gmail.com>

Wrap Up: COR1-GB.2303.S.31.SP12

Thomas F Cooley <tcooley@stern.nyu.edu>

Sun, May 6, 2012 at 2:49 PM

Many thanks to those of you who were able to join us after the exam - I enjoyed the chance to talk to you informally. I got the message that you found the exam tough and I know where it was tough and a bit confusing. We will be broadminded in our grading so don't worry about it. It will be at least another week before the grading is finished and the grades posted.

In the meantime I remind you to fill out the CFE's - it is important feedback.

Several people asked me about further macro economics courses. There are actually some great options in the Fall.

Thomas Sargent together with Lars Ljungqvist is teaching a course called Advanced Macroeconomics Wednesday Evening.

Kim Schoenholtz is teaching a course on the Financial Crisis and Policy Response. This is a very interesting course and he features many speakers who were at the center of the storm.

Stanley Zin is teaching a course on the BRIC Economies Called International Economic Policy: The BRICS. Great Teacher, very knowledgeable about these emerging economies.

Michael Spence is teach a Development Course. Nobel Laureate. Headed the Growth Commission.

Amity Shlaes a good friend, great writer and historian is teaching a course on the Great Depression based on her bestselling book about the Depression "The Forgotten Man". She is about to come out with a book about Calvin Coolidge.

There is also a Money and Banking Course called Monetary Policy, Banks and Central Banks.

A great selection in my view!

Have a great summer and stay in touch.